June 3, 4, 10 and 11.

Kentucky and Tennessee hold their State conventions this week.

Italy has favored the United States with a resumption of diplomatic relations, but in doing so she has conferred a Baron Fava.

The press boys are still sounding the praises of hospitable Lexington. It will be a long time before the pleasant memories of the meeting of 1892 die away.

The Sinking Fund Commissioners have elected Ward Linn, of Graves county, Deputy Warden of the Eddyville penitentiary to succeed Sam O. Nunn resigned.

Next to Arthur Ford's write up in the Courier Journal, the best account of the Lexington Press Convention was written by John Westover, of the Williamstown Courier.

The Elkton Progress says the only Democrats who attended the Todd county convention were a few anti-Cleveland men who appointed a delegation against Cleveland to a man, with Judge W. L. Reeves at the head of it.

The indictments against Deputy Revenue Collector Will Feland, Assistant McAdams, Roark and three others, charging them with violating the Civil Service laws, in collecting money from their subordinates, while serving under Collector John Feland, in the Owensboro district, will be called up for trial this week at Owensboro.

In discussing the matter, the Louisville Times says since the conviction of Mulholland this prosecution has lost much of its hilarity as a joke.

The Owensboro Messenger has decided upon a course in regard to certain classes of entertainments, that ought to be followed by all papers run upon business ideas. It publishes this notice: "From and after this date all notices of church or society entertainments, where an admission fee is asked, or of other money-making schemes, will be inserted in the Messenger only as advertising matter. Such notices properly written and left at the counting room, or sent by mail, will receive prompt attention."

Senator Hill has announced his intention of going to the Chicago convention to look after his political interests. This will probably give color again to the suggestion that Senator Hill will, when he finds himself out of the race, personally withdraw and move to make Cleveland's nomination unanimous. He would by following this course have an opportunity to show himself to the convention and solidify himself for '96 by his patriotism and magnanimity. If Senator Hill is a big enough man, this is just what he will do.

Tullahoma followed the example of Goodlettsville, Tenn., Friday and lynched Chas. Everett, the colored tramp who entered the room of a young lady, Miss Jessie Hulbert, and attempted to assault her. He was the eighth negro lynched in the South in one week for brutal crimes and the tenth or twelfth within the last thirty days, not counting several killed by officers in Memphis for resisting arrest. The Southern people are determined to protect their wives and daughters, if it takes mob law to do it. When this fact is fully understood, there will be cause for fewer lynchings in the South.

Michael J. Carey, a petulant from Louisville, was killed last Friday in the Anchorage Asylum, by F. M. Ellis and C. L. Buchanan, the attendants on Ward No. 1. Carey was put in only the day before and was trying to escape from the door through which Ellis was entering when Ellis struck him in the face. Carey ran to the bath-room followed by Ellis, who tried to drive him into his room. Failing to do this alone he called Buchanan, who came to his assistance. Carey resisted and struck Buchanan, blacking his eye. This enraged both men and they finally threw Carey upon the floor and jumping on him with their knees beat and crushed the life out of him. He lived only 20 minutes. An autopsy revealed the fact that nearly every rib in his body was broken and he was also fatally injured internally. Dr. Pusey promptly sent for the coroner and an officer to arrest the men. They are now in jail charged with manslaughter. John Brewer, of this county, a convalescent patient, was one of the principal witnesses. The men themselves do not deny the main facts as given. Of course Dr. Pusey cannot be held to account for the murder, as the attendants had hitherto borne good characters. They will be prosecuted by Carey's friends and by the asylum authorities to the extent of the law, and are almost certain to be convicted.

The Miller Separate Coach Bill.

passed the House Friday by 159 to 25 votes. It had previously passed the Senate by 18 to 10. As it had no emergency clause it will not take effect until 90 days after the present session adjourns. In the final consideration of the bill Friday the Quigley, of Paducah, bore off the honors in the strongest speech made in its advocacy. Mr. Quigley is a young lawyer, sensible, well informed and eloquent and is one of the "pen-nyrile" members who have taken rank among the ablest men in the House.

Mr. Pettit, as usual, took a hand in the discussion and introduced a substitute providing for first and second class coaches, for the separation of the rich and the poor regardless of color. His substitute was voted down by the members not so rich as Mr. Pettit.

The W. Harper whiskey should be on every sideboard.

The L. W. Harper whiskey should be in every Medicine chest.

The L. W. Harper whiskey should be in every club.

The L. W. Harper whiskey should be on every bar.

And all of this because it is the prince of whiskeys. The Ideal Kentucky article. Sold by J. W. Smith, and W. R. Long, Hopkinsville, Ky.

The bill against "ringing" now pending in the Senate is rough on Pettit and other short horses. It makes it a penitentiary offense to enter a horse in a different class from that in which he belongs. The alleged candidacy of Pettit for Congress seems to be in direct violation of this provision. The coming race is going to be a trial of speed between several classes above the little switch-tailed pony from Davies county. Get out Tommy and enter for the slow mule race.

There is more catarrh in this section of the country than all other diseases put together, and until the last few years was supposed to be incurable. For a great many years doctors pronounced it a local disease, and prescribed local remedies, and by constantly failing to cure with local treatment, pronounced it incurable. Science has proven catarrh to be a constitutional disease, and therefore requires constitutional treatment. Hall's Catarrh Cure manufactured by F. J. Cheney & Co., Toledo, Ohio, is the only constitutional cure on the market. It is taken internally in doses from 10 drops to a teaspoonful. It acts directly upon the blood and mucous surfaces of the system. They offer one hundred dollars for any case it fails to cure. Send for circulars and testimonials. Address, F. J. CHENEY & CO., Toledo, O. Sold by druggists, 75c.

"A Singing Wire, and other Stories" is the title of a neat little book just published from the pen of Miss Halie Erminie Rives, of this county. It is written in a pleasant, interesting vein and is a very creditable beginning for an aspiring and talented young author. We are pleased to know that the book is meeting with a ready sale. It can be had at any of the book-stores.

A Letter From a Prominent Louisville Banker.

LOUISVILLE, Ky., April 22, 1892.

MESSES. DU BOIS & WELLS,

COR. 4TH and JEFFERSON, CITY.

GENTLEMEN:—I seldom use my Electropulse now, for the reason that I have little requirement for it, but occasionally try it with good effect in maintaining normal vitality. Three years ago, when I first tried it, I was a good deal worn down by close application and overwork, and I believed then, as I do now, that it was of positive service to me.

Very respectfully,

J. H. LINDSEY, Banker.

Pres. Merchants Nat. Bank.

Union county held its convention Saturday and instructed for Carlisle, McKenzie, Meacham and Miller. This gives the two last named gentlemen 62 votes each out of a possible 62 in the district, counting Christian for Miller and Davies for Meacham. Hopkins, Henderson and Webster are the only counties not instructed for them, but those delegations will in all probability aid in making their election unanimous.

Mr. Attila Cox is spoken of as the successor to Gen. Castleman, who has made up his mind to retire from the position of Chairman of the State Central Committee, at the Convention next week. The chairman ought to live in Louisville and if Mr. Cox be put forward by the Louisville Democrats there is but little doubt that he will be elected to succeed the best Chairman the party has ever had in Kentucky.

Mr. Downer's bill to repeal the Christian county registration law, passed in the interest of honest elections, has not yet shown up in the Senate. When it does it will be hit with a Democratic club. In the meantime the officers of registration have been appointed and the usual registration will be held June 3, 4, 10 and 11.

In yesterday's papers Mr. Blaine is quoted as saying: "I will do nothing to prevent my nomination. I have made my last denial." This of course means that he is a candidate for President.

Miss Kate Dooley, a Pennsylvania Schoolmarm, whipped an Italian brigand who attempted to assault her on a lonely highway.

Judge Garrett S. Wall, of Mayesville, was elected State Senator Saturday, to succeed Chas. B. Foyntz resigned.

A VIGOROUS PROTEST.

More Than 100 Citizens Sign a Remonstrance Against Waterworks.

Following is the wording of a protest which has been signed by 112 property owners of the city: "We the undersigned citizens and tax payers of the city of Hopkinsville, protest against the action of the Board of Councilmen of said city in proposing to fix a debt upon the city for $100,000 payable in 20 annual installments for waterworks and electric lights. We believe that the taxes which will have to be levied to pay interest upon railroad bonds, current expenses and the $50,000 additional annual sum for waterworks and lights, will be oppressive and detrimental to the best interest of the city; and we further hold that the Board of Councilmen has no right to incur said additional indebtedness, and we hereby notify all persons concerned that we will by proper legal proceedings resist the levy and payment of any and all such taxes for the payment of said proposed indebtedness, for waterworks and electric lights."

This is signed by E. P. Campbell, S. E. Trice, W. T. Tandy, Jno. P. Prowse, W. G. Wheeler, F. J. Brownell, T. M. Jones, Geo. O. Thompson, C. A. Thompson, D. R. Board, H. C. Gant, G. V. Campbell, S. C. Mercer, John Moayon, Jas. Rodman, Jno. B. Trice, Peter Postell, A. C. Brent and 94 others. Sixteen of the signers are colored property owners and the list embraces many of the largest tax payers in the city.

Councilman Forbes, who did more than any other one man to secure the contract, was interviewed in regard to the protest.

"Mr. Martin will pay no attention to it," said he, "the contract has been made and will be carried out. Martin is not the man to be scared by a bluff. I have not seen the list, but I understand many of the signers are men who are on record as voting for a waterworks proposition a few years ago."

Wilmore's New Analytical Reference Bible.

Below we give some of the testimonials of this work from leading men from various denominations:

Rev. C. Lin Cave, Pastor of Vine Street Christian Church, Nashville, Tenn., says: "It gives me pleasure to state that I have examined with some care Wilmore's New Analytical Reference Bible, and recommend it to all who desire a better knowledge of the Scriptures. To such as have little time it will be of great help, as it enables one to see at a glance all the passages bearing on a given subject. It is well worth its cost, and all who need such a work will be glad to procure a copy of this excellent book."

From Rev. Jno. A. Broadus, D. D., Louisville, Ky.: "Wilmore's New Analytical Reference Bible reached me exactly when I was needing convenient help in a particular piece of work, and I have been using it every day. It is very handy to have Hitchcock's Analysis and a good Concordance in the same volume with the Scripture text, so as to turn backwards and forwards without having to open different volumes. Persons not well supplied with books of reference will find it a treasure."

From Rev. Samuel J. Nicolls, D. D., Pastor Second Presbyterian Church, St. Louis, Mo.: "Wilmore's New Analytical Reference Bible is a book of marvelous convenience, full of just such information as the Bible student needs. It is a Condensed Bible Dictionary and Commentary in one. I have placed it on my study table as one of my best assistants."

From Bishop A. W. Wilson, Baltimore, Md.: "Wilmore's New Analytical Reference Bible is about as complete and conveniently arranged for the student of the English Bible as is possible. Its ample supply of aids, furnished by scholars—devout men—whose names are guarantee of fullness and accuracy, makes the study of the Word of God easy and delightful. The mechanical side of it contributes in due proportion to its excellency. Paper, type and binding are of the best and most attractive. I know no edition of the Bible superior to it for general use."

THE BERBERMINT HABIT.

Extract From a Lecture by Dr. J. H. Kellogg, of the Battle Creek Sanitarium.

It is not a mere figure of speech, but an actual fact, that an excess of fat and sweets do clog the liver as well as impair the digestive functions generally. Every physician knows that the most obstinate cases of indigestion which he has to deal with, owe their origin and continuance to some persistent dietetic error or acquired taste. For instance, the candy habit is the ruin of the health of many women and girls. I remember one case of a lady whose liver continued obstinately torpid after considerable treatment. Going into her room one announced one day, I saw a large box on the table beside her labeled "choice candy." She tried to keep me from investigating the contents, but I succeeded in getting the cover off before she seized it, and found in it a small quantity of peppermint lozenges labeled "double extra strong." It was a five-pound box, and she finally admitted that she had had it only about a week, although it was nearly empty. She said that she had a fresh box every week or two, and that it took about a half a pound a day to satisfy her appetite for peppermints. Think of putting a half pound of sweets, flavored strongly with an exciting essential oil like peppermint, into the stomach and digestive system every day! The liver was of necessity the greatest sufferer, for, as a sentinel to keep such an undue quantity of sugar from destroying the blood corpuscles, it captures and stores it up to be doled out as needed. The surplus must be changed into urea and eliminated through the kidneys. Diabetes is a disease which is growing very frequent in this country, although it was rarely heard of twenty years ago. This disease is almost always caused by errors of diet, particularly in the excessive use of sweets. The liver and kidneys are overtaxed and at last become diseased, the kidneys fail to carry off the sugar imposed upon them and finally the person suffers of diabetes. Peppermint, like black pepper and cayenne pepper, irritates the stomach and liver seriously. Never form such habits if you would maintain your health; if you have formed them, break away if you ever expect to recover.—Reported by Helen L. Manning.

Watching Servants.

A servant hates to be always watched. "I left her," said one girl, "because she was always prying around, and coming into the kitchen, very softly, like a cat, and saying, 'I was seeing all the time.' That isn't necessary, and it is sure to create ill-feeling. Shortcomings can be discovered without constant spying, and it lowers a woman in her servant's eyes when she shows a suspicious disposition. The great master at Rugby made his boys great by putting them on their honor. If a servant has any sense of honor trust to it. If she hasn't, discharge her after a fair trial, and get one who has. It does people good to be trusted, unless they are utterly destitute of moral fiber; it does them good to be commended, to be advised, to be approached like human beings, and not like machines. When the sun and the cold winds conspired to make a man cast off his cloak the sun got the victory. Kindness will save and lift up where coldness and keen criticism will fail. Kindness will melt where coldness will harden.—The Beacon.

THE MISSISSIPPI.

The Great Valley, Its River and Its Tributaries.

We have in the Mississippi valley a great parent stream running from the north to the southern boundaries of the country, and which, with its wonderful system of tributaries, affords 15,000 miles of navigable water lines—that is, navigable for portions of the year, and capable the greater portion of them of being made navigable all the year round, except when frozen over. Suppose these streams had been made permanently navigable forty years ago—suppose the policy of improvement for the parent stream had been adopted in 1850, and extended to its chief affluents, so as to afford easy and safe navigation of them the whole year round, except in the northern region, when frozen—would not a sufficient proportion of the $4,000,000,000 expended in the construction and maintenance of 75,000 miles of railroad in the valley have been saved to pay the cost of the river improvement policy thrice over, to say nothing of the still greater sum that the population of the country would have saved in the diminished carrying rates on 100,000,000 tons of freight a year?

The report of the inter-state commerce commission for the year ending June 30, 1890, states that the railways of the country carried in that year 425,441,000 tons of freight and 4,000,000 passengers, and that they received for the service rendered over $1,000,000,000, of which sum $750,000,000 was for freight. If we add to this one-seventh for the estimated amount paid for water carriage, we have an aggregate of $1,140,000,000 as the annual cost of the carrying service of the country. The figures exhibit the vast magnitude of our interior traffic, which, vast as it is, at the present rate of increase, doubles in sixteen and a half years; and they suggest that if there is a field that urgently invites measures of economy, it is the one covered by these colossal figures.

The same official report states that the average cost of carrying freight for all the roads was 94 cents per ton a mile. This is $11.39 for 1,200 miles, the distance between St. Louis and Boston and between St. Louis and New Orleans. But the high water river rate from St. Louis to New Orleans in 1891 was only $2.20 a ton for the entire distance—less than one-fifth the average rail charges for a similar service.
